

NHS Pharmacy First Scotland

NHS Pharmacy First Scotland is an NHS service provided by your local community pharmacy. It should be the first place to go for advice if you have a minor illness. You don't need an appointment. The pharmacist can give you advice and medicine if they think you need it.

You can use NHS Pharmacy First Scotland if you are registered with a GP practice in Scotland or you live in Scotland.

A pharmacist can give you advice and treatment (if you need it) for minor illnesses such as the following:

Acne, Allergies, Athlete's foot
Backache, Blocked or runny nose,
Cold sores, Constipation, Cough, Cystitis (in women aged 16-65years)
Diarrhoea, Earache, Eczema
Headache, Haemorrhoids (piles), Hay fever
Impetigo (aged over 2 years), Indigestion
Mouth Ulcers, Pain, Period pain
Sore throat, Threadworms, Thrush
Warts and Verrucas.

Pharmacists, like GPs, can only provide certain medicines and products on the NHS. If you want a specific medicine or product, you may need to buy it.

If the pharmacist thinks it is better for you to see your GP, they may refer you directly or advise you to make an appointment.

When you visit the pharmacy, the pharmacist (or one of their team) will ask you for some information, including your name, date of birth and postcode.

The pharmacist will: ask you about your symptoms; give you advice about your condition; provide medication or may refer you to another health care professional.

For more information contact: your local pharmacy or visit www.nhsinform.scot. You can also call 0800 22 44 88 (calls from a landline are free) for further information.
